

TCP Mission Retreats

The core of a man's life is his purpose. Without a conscious mission a man is lost, drifting and adapting to circumstances in his life, rather than creating events. Everything in a man's life needs to be aligned with his purpose, if he is to act with integrity in his world. But if you don't find your purpose, then you can't align your life with it. But if you know it, then you can create your life so that you minimize distractions and detours and fulfill it. Each moment of your life can become an expression of your core desire and purpose. You are no longer just going through the motions in your life (making money, getting married, finding a home, raising kids), but you are living from your heart, giving your gifts to the world. Such a life brings rich fulfillment to the soul of a man. We believe that this is how Jesus lived (see Luke 4:18, 19:10) and how He wants us to live as followers of Him. It is why we have created an entire weekend devoted to exploring this crucial subject.
